Dear Miss Parlow,

It was with great satisfaction that I accepted the invitation for my wife and myself to come to your evening of chamber music last night. I was distressed that we weren't able to come or to make our apologies before the evening.

It was one of those family crises. My small son got called to the hospital to have his tonsils removed and at the same time my wife got one of those tiresome but strictly temporary bugs which kept her in bed, so it had to be a domestic week-end for me.

I hope there will be another chance of hearing the quartet.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Barkway
